Welcome from the Chair

Welcome to this year's Pensions News.

I hope this newsletter provides you with clear and helpful updates about your benefits and the ongoing work of the Trustee Board.

On page 4 you'll find the latest update on the funding position of the Post Office Section of the RMPP, compared to the last valuation in 2024.

You can read about the recent Member-Nominated Trustee election on page 3 and learn more about how your Trustee Board is made up and how it represents members' interests. Keeping members informed about how the Plan is governed remains a key priority for us.

On page 3 we've also included information about the upcoming change to the minimum pension age from April 2028 and a reminder of the benefits that may be payable to your loved ones when you die, including the importance of keeping your nomination forms up to date. Finally, we revisit the steps you can take to protect yourself against pension scams, which unfortunately continue to pose a real risk.

I hope you find this year's newsletter informative. If you have any questions about your benefits, the Pensions Service Centre will be happy to help. Their contact details can be found on the final page.

Joanna Matthews

Chair of the Trustee,
Royal Mail Pension Plan

Member - Nominated Trustee Election

We recently held a nomination and selection process for one of the member-nominated Trustee Director positions on the Board. The position was one of those filled by an election process involving employee members of the RMPP, working in a CWU-represented grade. Nine people put their name forward and a ballot was held throughout March. Lionel Sampson (who decided to stand for re-election) was the winning candidate and will serve a new three-year term from 1st April 2026. Also, Gary Sassoon-Hales was re-nominated by Unite/CMA for a new three-year term from 1 April 2026, having previously been elected via a ballot for the previous three years. The Trustee Board agreed to his selection.

You can learn more about how the Trustee Board works and read about the current Trustee Directors on our website: royalmailpensionplan.co.uk – just look under ‘about the RMPP’ at the top of the page.

The earliest age you can take pension benefits is changing

The normal retirement age in the RMPP is 60 for benefits built up before 2010 and 65 for benefits built up after then. It's possible to take early payment of your benefits at any time from the age of 55 – but the amount you get will be reduced to reflect the longer time they will be paid. The government sets the 'minimum pension age' and may change it from time to time. In 2014, following a consultation, the government announced it would increase the minimum pension age to age 57 in 2028 to coincide with the rise of state pension age to 67. The change will happen on 6th April 2028, meaning from that date, you must be 57 or over to take any pension benefits early.

Note: This does not affect people who successfully apply for early payment of their pension on ill health grounds. In such cases, there is no minimum age, but you will need to qualify under the rules of the RMPP.

Funding Update

Every year we look at how much money the RMPP is likely to need to pay everyone their benefits (the liabilities) and compare that with the total amount of money the RMPP currently has (the assets). The results of the most recent 'Funding Update' for the Post Office section of the RMPP as at 31 March 2025 are shown below, compared to the last valuation in 2024.

	Actuarial Valuation at 31 March 2024	Funding Update at 31 March 2025
Liabilities	£278 million	£248 million
Assets	£305 million	£276 million
Surplus	£27 million	£28 million
Funding level (assets divided by liabilities)	110%	111%

The estimated surplus and funding level were broadly stable, reflecting the closely matching investment strategy that the Trustee has in place. The vast majority of the Post Office section's liabilities are backed by matching insurance policies.

What if the RMPP is wound up?

By law, we must tell you the funding level if the RMPP was wound up, and the assets and responsibility for paying your benefits were transferred to an insurance company. On this basis, and based on the valuation as at 31 March 2024, the RMPP could meet 100% of its commitments. Finally, we must tell you that over the past year we didn't pay any 'surplus assets' to Royal Mail, or other employers and The Pensions Regulator has not imposed any orders on the RMPP to change the rate of contributions or benefits, or the way in which the liabilities are calculated.

Your loved ones could receive benefits when you die

Being a member of the RMPP means there could be benefits paid to your loved ones in the event of your death.

If you are married, in a civil partnership or have someone who is financially dependent on you when you die, a pension may be payable to them. If you have children under 18 then they may also receive a pension. This normally stops at 18, or 23 if they remain in full-time education or training.

Based on your circumstances at the time, a one-off cash sum may also be payable. The Trustee of the RMPP will decide who to pay this to but you can tell us who you'd like to be considered to receive it by completing a nomination form. If you've completed one of these before and your circumstances have changed, then it's a good idea to complete a new form (even if you still want to nominate the same person). Visit the 'library' section of our website: royalmailpensionplan.co.uk and search under 'forms' from the drop-down menu.

Stop!

Think Fraud

Steps to stay safe from scams.

Scammers appear professional and it's becoming harder to spot the difference between something that's credible and something that's fraudulent.

The Pension Scams Action Group has put together a checklist to go through if you're ever approached about your pension.

Your pension is your future – keep it safe!

Step 1

Is the offer unexpected?

Is the offer unexpected? Legitimate pension providers are highly unlikely to contact you out of the blue about your pension. Be wary of free pension review offers and/or promises of high/guaranteed returns.

Step 2

Have you checked who you're dealing with?

The Financial Conduct Authority's (FCA) website has a Financial Services Register you can check to make sure that anyone offering you advice or services is authorised to do so. A firm pretending to be an authorised firm is known as a 'clone firm' and may have a clone website that looks exactly like the real deal.

Tip: double check their contact details against the register and see if they match. Always ensure a firm is FCA authorised, or you won't be protected by the Financial Ombudsman Service or Financial Services Compensation Scheme if something goes wrong.

Step 3

Stop and think – are you being rushed or pressured?

Pressure to act quickly or you will miss out is often a warning sign. Take your time to make all the checks you need and remember, if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

Step 4

Should you seek impartial advice or guidance?

MoneyHelper

Financial advisers

If you can, it's a good idea to invest in speaking to a financial adviser. Often large amounts of money are at stake and they will be able to help you make the right decision for you.

Tip: check any adviser you choose to use is regulated by the FCA.
